We find ourselves on the penultimate Friday of the Autumn Term. If you are thinking about buying books for your children any time soon there are some fabulous ideas on the the following websites:

If you are interested in books that promote and explore inclusion and diversity:

Please take a look and get lost in a book or two or three...

Also check out this week's Class page for a sneak preview of Red Kite Class' beautiful Christmas Cards that they have designed and are selling in conjunction with Clinks Care Farm

Best wishes,

Story Writers Club

The children have been working hard in the story writing club to create an adventure story in only 100 words. We have looked at how to describe a character and setting and how to carefully use verbs to describe the action. Our stories will be entered into the Young Writers 'Adventure Hunters' Competition. Fingers crossed for a winner from the fantastic stories they have written!

Robin Class

This week, Robins have started getting ready for Christmas. We began the week by learning about why we celebrate Christmas and the nativity story. We have also been busy decorating the classroom and Robins independently built and decorated their own tree! They have also been busy making paper chains, 'stained glass' biscuits and learning 'Twas the night before Christmas' in Talk for Writing

Woodpecker Class

This week Woodpecker class enjoyed a school trip to Strangers Hall in Norwich where they found out more about the Tudors and Kett's rebellion.

Red Kite Class

Get your Christmas cards here! Red Kite class have been working on fundraising for Clinks Care Farm and we have made some Christmas cards to sell. We hope to be selling these after the Christmas singing on Tuesday 14th Dec and after school on Wednesday (if there are any left!). Cards will be priced at £1 each - cash only please.
